

Carse Head & Crichton Park Farms: A story of the land and its people. The Trapski-Pullar family

by Margaret Pullar

“The story of the Trapski-Pullar family is an absolutely fascinating one of hardworking people dealing with what for many people would be utterly impossible problems. You will find out a lot about the area that wouldn’t have occurred to you before, and above all what people meant to the area and how they put up with trials and tribulations that we can’t really understand today,” ~ John Clarke CMG.

This publication provides insight into the world of a Southland farming family over the years. It will be a treasure for family members, as well as for those interested in the early history and ongoing development of this Eastern Southland land and its people. The book draws on interviews, letters, memories, newspaper and internet resources, with particular focus placed on those who have lived and farmed at Carse Head and Crichton Park. Comprehensive family trees are included of the descendants of Frederick Ferdinand and Alice Alicia (née McKenna) Trapski, and the descendants of Joseph Pullar and Helen McIntosh.
